

Yukon Heritage Resources Board

Annual Report 2005–2006

Ten Yukon Heritage Facts

The Yukon has eight language groups: Han, Gwich'in, Northern Tutchone, Southern Tutchone, Tagish, Tlingit, Kaska and Upper Tanana.

The Yukon River is 3185 km long, the fifth longest in North America.

In 1874, Jack McQuesten and his assistant Frank Banfield established Fort Reliance, the first post within the traditional territory of the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in.

In 1883 First Nations women and young children were packing up to 100 pounds on their backs for miners over the Chilkoot Pass, earning from ten to twenty dollars per day.

In 1848, Hudson's Bay Company trader Robert Campbell set up a post called Fort Selkirk in the territory of the Northern Tutchone people.

Aishihik was the starting point for three major trails: north to the Yukon River and Fort Selkirk; west to the Nisling and White rivers; and southwest to Kluane Lake.

Archaeological evidence suggests that human occupation of the Kluane Lake region extends back at least 8000 years.

Three Tagish people, Skookum Jim (Keish), Kate Carmack (Shaaw Tláa) and Dawson Charlie (Káa Goox), were involved in the Bonanza Creek gold discovery of 1896 that sparked the Klondike Gold Rush.

The Yukon has the largest non-polar icefields in North America.

The Yukon became a territory on June 13, 1898.

Message from the Chair

One of the highlights of the Yukon Heritage Resources Board's activities over the year was our trip to Dawson City to attend the designation ceremonies of the Dawson Telegraph Office and the Yukon Saw Mill Co. Office which the Board had had the satisfaction of recommending for designation. Due to their prominence, the ongoing preservation of these two buildings is integral to the historic fabric of Dawson City.

While in Dawson, the Board had the opportunity to travel to the Forty Mile site to view the preservation and interpretive work being done cooperatively by Cultural Services Branch and the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in Heritage Department.

The Board continues to work on our strategic plan and has begun to implement some of the priorities it identified. As part of these efforts, Dave Joe was invited to present an in-depth look at Chapter 13, the intent of the chapter and the Board's role.

The Board has expressed an increasing interest in First Nation languages over the last year and this year struck a language sub-committee. Board members have expressed a strong commitment to the rejuvenation of Yukon First Nation languages under 13.5.3.3 of the UFA.

Another year has come to a close and the Yukon Heritage Resources Board has enjoyed another interesting and satisfying year of working with the many heritage concerns of all Yukon people. As we enter the third and final year of the present Board's mandate, we can clearly see how the Board has developed and grown with the mix of a few first-time members and some returning members. I would like to thank the members for their dedication and commitment over the past year in bringing some matters to fruition and embarking on many important new initiatives.

Special thanks to Minister Elaine Taylor who has taken a great interest in the Board's work, the Cultural Services Branch who have assisted in many ways, the Board members who continue to devote their interest and energies to the Board, and to our Executive Director Loree Stewart who continues to work hard on behalf of the Board and Yukon heritage.

Who We Are

The Yukon Heritage Resources Board (YHRB) is comprised of ten members from throughout the Yukon who operate in the public interest. The Council of Yukon First Nations nominates five appointees and the Yukon government nominates five, with the concurrence of the government of Canada for one of the selections. All of them are appointed by the Yukon Minister of Tourism and Culture for three-year terms.

YHRB was established in 1995 under the terms of the Umbrella Final Agreement (UFA). Its duties and responsibilities are outlined in the UFA (Chapter 13) and the Yukon Historic Resources Act (Part 1, Section 4). Under the UFA, the Board may make recommendations to the Minister and to Yukon First Nations regarding the management of Moveable Heritage Resources and Heritage Sites. YHRB may also be asked to make determinations pursuant to UFA 13.3.2.1 (ownership of contested heritage resources) and 13.3.6 (management of ethnographic objects and palaeontological or archaeological objects).

Under the Yukon's Historic Resources Act, the Board is to advise the Minister on appropriate policies and guidelines for the designation of historic sites and appropriate policies, guidelines and standards for the care and custody of historic objects; perform functions that land claims agreements assign to YHRB and advise on the use of the Yukon Historic Resources Fund.

Since its inception, the board has assisted First Nation, territorial, federal and municipal governments in developing heritage resource policies to address the public interest. Current board members are Ingrid Johnson (Chair, Whitehorse), Patricia Cuning (Vice-Chair, Whitehorse), Carolyn Allen (Teslin), Joyce Armstrong (Watson Lake), André Bourcier (Whitehorse), Ron Chambers (Haines Junction), Bob Munroe (Whitehorse), Sharon A. Peter (Mayo), Carl Sidney (Teslin) and Diane Strand (Haines Junction). All appointments are effective for a term ending April 17, 2007.

Rick Lemaire, Director of Cultural Services, Department of Tourism and Culture assisted the Board in his role as Yukon government representative. The Board's Executive Director is Loree Stewart.

Yukon Historic Sites

Under the provisions of the Historic Resources Act, nominations for the territorial designation of sites are referred to the Yukon Heritage Resources Board for evaluation and recommendation to the minister responsible for heritage. The board evaluates a site using criteria it developed specific to the category of the nominated site: built, archaeological, paleontological or landscape. The board also makes recommendations regarding the management of a site if it is territorially designated. Once the Minister accepts the board's recommendation, Tourism and Culture staff advertise a Notice of Intended Designation and begin the process of officially designating the site according to the Act.

YHRB recommends that work on a site recommended for designation follow the Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada. In August, 2005, YHRB passed a motion to formally endorse the Standards and Guidelines and informed Minister of Tourism and Culture Elaine Taylor and then Minister of the Environment Stéphane Dion of that endorsement.

Directions for the Future

The YHRB will continue to make recommendations on the designation of Yukon Historic Sites and applications to the Yukon Historic Resources Fund, participate on the adjudication committee for the Heritage Training Fund and review the objectives, policies and programs of the Cultural Services Branch. The Board may also review and monitor the implementation of First Nation heritage resources strategic plans. As specified in Yukon First Nation Final Agreements, YHRB will review and make recommendations on management plans for historic sites, special management areas and Yukon parks.

Through strategic planning, the Board identified its priorities for 2006/07: development of an adjudication process in consultation with First Nations to resolve ownership of disputed heritage resources (UFA 13.3.2.1); develop a website (www.yhrb.ca); make efforts to include traditional knowledge in Board deliberations; and continue research into traditional languages.

Auditors' Report

To the Members of the Yukon Heritage Resources Board:

We have audited the balance sheet of the Yukon Heritage Resources Board as at March 31, 2006, and the statements of revenue, expenses and surplus and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Board's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Board as at March 31, 2006 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.
